Tropicxx BIOGRAPHY

Tropicxx is a singer, songwriter and music producer, born and raised in Austria. Today she works internationally, following her own artistic path – always with the ambition to create something real: a sound with character and recognition.

She discovered her connection to music at an early age and began vocal training during her youth. Melodies and song ideas accompanied her from the very beginning, but it was only through producing music that she found a way to truly realize her musical ideas.

She learned to bring her vision to life on her own – intuitively and emotional rather than by fixed formulas, step by step moving closer to her artistic goal.

Today, TROPICXX writes, produces and sings all of her songs herself, uniting vocals and production into one voice and refining her sound with every release.
